AFTER READMISSION OR INACTIVE STATUS

Please be aware that your I-20 Form and F-1 visa are no longer valid if you have been withdrawn from the University, or if are currently in inactive status. In order to enter the U.S. in F-1 status to resume your studies at the University of Miami, you must follow the steps below:

Step 1: Confirm your eligibility to continue your studies at the University of Miami

Students who have withdrawn from UM and have missed a main semester; fall or spring:

Apply for readmission to the University of Miami at least 3 months prior to the semester you plan to return to the University. After your readmission application has been reviewed and approved by your School or College, you will receive an email confirmation from the Office of the University Registrar.

Continue with Step 2 when the Registrar’s Office has approved your readmission.

Students who are currently in inactive status at UM:

Students returning from Inactive Status will have a registration appointment posted on their CaneLink for Fall/Spring registration. For important dates and deadlines, please visit the Academic Calendar.

Step 2: Obtain a Form I-20

Once the Registrar’s Office has approved your readmission or return to the University, complete the online Form I-20 Request for Undergraduate Students after Readmission, Inactive Status, or to Change Status to F-1 and upload the following documents to the form:

- Copy of the biographical information page in your passport.

Processing of your I-20 will take 10 business days. You will receive e-mail notifications about the status of your request, and if any further information or documentation is needed.

On the form, you can select if you would like to pick up your I-20 or have it mailed to you. Express shipping payment instructions are provided.
